PREFACE

The City of East Providence re-affirms its commitment to the principles of affirmative action, non-discrimination and equal employment opportunity. It is the City's firm belief that any employment decision, policy or program, regardless of intent, which through its design, implementation or impact limits the full utilization of qualified individuals. It is the policy of the City not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment in the terms, conditions, and benefits of employment because of race, color, age (40 years or older), religion, expression, national origin, sex (pregnancy), sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, veteran status, disability or any basis protected by State and Federal Law. The City's personnel policies and practices are designed to provide equal opportunity for all persons. All employment decisions and actions will be made without preference based on the aforementioned characteristics.

A policy of non-discrimination by itself, however, is not sufficient enough to erase the effects of past employment practices. In addition to vigilance over activities aimed at elimination of discriminatory barriers to employment, the City of East Providence undertakes positive measures (affirmative action) to ensure equal employment opportunity to members of the protected classes, minorities, women, people with disabilities and veterans. The goal is to achieve the equitable participation of minorities, women, people with disabilities and veterans in all City Departments and on all job levels.

Each City Department has the responsibility to undertake affirmative action and promote the full realization of such through outreach and recruitment of underutilized protected classes. The City needs and should take affirmative steps to train and promote employees to improve their opportunities to participate in higher level employment opportunities with the emphasis in job classifications where members of protected classes are under-utilized and under-represented.

We celebrate the diversity of our great City and remain dedicated to affirmative actions, policies, procedures and attitudes necessary to continue to build and retain a workforce that is reflective of the community that we are here to serve.

III. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

The legal basis for equal employment opportunity, affirmative action, and other efforts to protect individuals from discriminatory practices may be found in the following federal, state, and local laws:

Federal Laws

14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution: Adopted in 1868, this amendment prohibits state and local government officials from depriving persons of life, liberty, or property without legislative authorization. It also requires each state to provide equal protection under the law to all people with its jurisdiction.

Equal Pay Act of 1963: The Equal Pay Act requires that men and women in the same workplace be given equal pay for equal work. The jobs need not be identical, but they must be substantially equal. Job content determines whether jobs are substantially equal. All forms of pay are covered by this law, including salary, overtime pay, bonuses, stock options, profit sharing and bonus plans, life insurance, vacation and holiday pay, cleaning or gasoline allowances, hotel accommodations, reimbursement for travel expenses and benefits. If there is an inequality in wages between men and women, employers may not reduce the wages of either sex to equalize their pay.

Civil Rights Act of 1964 Title VI, 42 U.S.C. Sec 2000d, et seq.: Title VI prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin in programs and activities receiving federal financial assistance. It was amended by the Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987 to include all the operations of educational institutions, government entities, or private employers that receive federal funds.

Under Title VI, recipients of federal financial assistance have the responsibility to ensure meaningful access to their programs and activities by persons with limited English proficiency.

Civil Rights Act of 1964 Title VII, 42 U.S.C. Secs. 2000 d-4, et seq.: Title VII outlawed unequal application of voter registration requirements, and racial segregation in schools, in housing, in the workplace and in facilities that serve the general public. This act provides that it shall be an unlawful employment practice for an employer with 15 or more employees to fail or refuse to hire or to discharge any individual, or otherwise to discriminate against any individual with respect to compensation, and terms, conditions or privileges of employment because of their race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Executive Order 11246 signed 1965: The Executive Order 11246 prohibits federal contractors and subcontractors and federally-assisted construction contractors and subcontractors that generally have contracts that exceed $10,000 from discriminating in employment decisions on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. It also requires covered contractors to take affirmative action to ensure equal opportunity is provided in all aspects of their employment.

Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967: The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967 (ADEA) protects individuals who are 40 years of age or older from employment discrimination based on age. The ADEA's protection applies to both employees and job applicants. Under the ADEA, it is unlawful to discriminate against a person because of his/her age with respect to any term, condition, or privilege of employment, including hiring, firing, promotion, layoff, compensation, benefits, job assignments, and training.

The ADEA permits employers to favor older workers based on age even when doing so adversely affects a younger worker who is 40 or older.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972: Title IX prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in any federally funded education program or activity. The law states, in part, that: "No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance..."

Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973: Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 prohibits discrimination against persons with disabilities. It requires employers with federal contracts or subcontracts that exceed $10,000 to take affirmative action in the hiring, retention, and promotion of qualified individuals with disabilities. All covered contractors and subcontractors must also include a specific equal opportunity clause in each of their nonexempt contracts and subcontracts.

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973: Section 504 prohibits employers who receive federal grants or funding from discriminating against employees solely by reason of their disability.

Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974: The Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act (VEVRAA) requires covered federal government contractors and subcontractors to take affirmative action to employ and advance in employment specified categories of veterans protected by the Act and prohibits discrimination against such veterans. In addition, VEVRAA requires contractors and subcontractors to list their employment openings with the appropriate employment service delivery system, and that covered veterans receive priority in referral to such openings. Further, VEVRAA requires federal contractors and subcontractors to compile and submit annually a report on the number of current employees who are covered veterans. The affirmative action and mandatory job listing provisions of VEVRAA are enforced by the Employment Standards administrations of the Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFFCCP) within the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL). DOL's Veterans Employment and Training Service (VETS) administers' employment reporting requirement.

Pregnancy Discrimination Act of 1978: The Pregnancy Discrimination Act amended Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Discrimination on basis of pregnancy, childbirth, or related medical conditions constitutes unlawful sex discrimination under Title VII, which covers employers with 15 or more employees, including state and local governments. Title VII also applies to employment agencies and to labor organizations, as well as to the federal government. Women who are pregnant or affected by pregnancy-related conditions must be treated in the same manner as other applicants or employees with similar abilities or limitations.

Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990: Title I of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 prohibits private employers, state and local governments, employment agencies and labor unions from discriminating against qualified individuals with disabilities in job application procedures, hiring, firing, advancement, compensation, job training and other terms, conditions, and privileges of employment. The ADA covers employers with 15 or more employees, including state and local governments. It also applies to employment agencies and to labor organizations. The ADA's nondiscrimination standards also apply to federal sector employees under section 501 of the Rehabilitation Act, as amended, and its implementing rules.

Civil Rights Act of 1991: An act which, among other things, provided for the right to trial by jury on discrimination claims and introduced the possibility of emotional distress damages, while limiting the amount that a jury could award.

Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993: The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) of 1993 requires employers with 50 or more workers to provide eligible employees up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job protected leave in a 12 month period to care for a newborn, or newly placed adopted or foster child; to care for a seriously ill child, spouse, parent, or because of the employee's own illness.

Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008: The Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008 (GINA), which prohibits employment discrimination based on differences in DNA/genetic information that may affect an employee's health. The law prevents discrimination from health insurers and employers.

ADA Amendments Act of 2008: On September 25, 2008, the President signed the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act of 2008 ("ADA Amendments Act" or "Act"). The Act makes important changes to the definition of the term "disability" by rejecting the holdings in several Supreme Court decisions and portions of EEOC's ADA regulations. The Act retains the ADA's basic definition of "disability" as an impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities, a record of such an impairment, or being regarded as having such an impairment.

DIVISION 7. EQUAL OPPORTUNITY AND AFFIRMATIVE ACTION POLICY

Sec. 11-212. Policy Statement.

(a) The City of East Providence hereby affirms its commitment to equal opportunity and affirmative action by fostering and actively promoting equitable employment opportunities throughout its departments. Moreover, the city affirms its commitment to the prevention and elimination of discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender information, gender identity, expression, age (40 or older), national origin, veteran status, disability or any other basis protected by State or Federal Law. The affirmative action officer, under the administrative supervision of the personnel director, is responsible to the city manager, in accordance with the City Ordinance, Book 5, Chapter 61, entitled: An Ordinance Adopting an Affirmative Action Plan for the City of East Providence, Rhode Island, adopted April 19, 1976, and is duly empowered with full authority and responsibility to develop and ensure compliance with laws, policies and practices established to assist the city in achieving its equal opportunity and affirmative action goals.

Thus, the implementation of this Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Policy is intended to enhance programs and introduce strategies that, once implemented, will bring about the positive, proactive changes necessary to the achievement of the city's equal opportunity and affirmative action goals.

(c) In accordance with the city's Affirmative Action Plan and the commitment affirmed through this policy, the city shall continue to promote equal opportunity and affirmative action in all areas of operation. Special emphasis shall be given to the following areas:

Sec. 11-213. Employment Practices

(a) The city will make every effort to ensure that all employment practices and decisions are made fairly and equitably. Such employment practices shall include, but not be limited to, employee recruitment, hiring, transfer, promotion, training, compensation, benefits, layoff, and termination. The affirmative action officer, in conjunction with the personnel director, and with the assistance of personnel office staff, shall oversee all employment practices to ensure they are conducted in accordance with the provisions of City Ordinance, Book 5, Chapter 61, Section 11 – 136 through Section 11 – 230, and Section 11 – 65(e). Any conflict that may arise between the affirmative action officer and the personnel director in relation to their responsibilities shall be resolved by the city manager.

Sec. 11-214. Dissemination of Affirmative Action Plan

The city affirms its support for the development and implementation of the Affirmative Action Plan. Furthermore, the city acknowledges that it is the responsibility of every municipal employee, as well as those doing business with the city to adhere to the laws, policies, and procedures outlined in the Affirmative Action Plan and to support the affirmative action officer with regard to the plan's implementation. Therefore, in addition to complying with all aspects of the City Ordinance, Book 5, Chapter 61, Sec. 11-139, entitled: Dissemination, the city manager shall disseminate the Affirmative Action Plan, along with this policy, and a written statement to all municipal directors affirming the city's commitment to its affirmative action programs. The affirmative action officer shall be responsible for the investigation of any allegation of discrimination in employment practices, provision of services, or city sponsored programs and activities, on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, expression, age (40 or older), national origin, disability, veteran status or any other basis protected by State and Federal Laws. Any employee, applicant for employment, service provider or recipient, or participant in city sponsored programs and activities, believing that they have been discriminated against on the basis race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, expression, age, national origin, disability, veteran status, or any other basis protected by State and Federal laws may contact the affirmative action officer, who will promptly investigate the matter in accordance with grievance procedures outlined in the city's Affirmative Action Plan. The city values the services provided by contractors and firms. It is expected, however, that any prime contractor, subcontractor, or firm doing business or awarded a contract with the city, take appropriate action in assuring the city that there will be equal employment opportunity during the performance of their contract. In accordance with City Ordinance, Book 5, Chapter 61, Sec. 11-196, entitled: Measures to ensure nondiscriminatory hiring practices, the city will ensure that all practices and procedures outlined in the ordinance are followed and that the affirmative action officer is provided the support and personnel office staff assistance needed to comply with requirements under this section.

Sec. 11-217. Training

(a) The city affirms the importance of administering training programs designed to give municipal and school department employees an overview of equal opportunity laws and policies which cover discrimination and harassment/sexual harassment prevention. The city also acknowledges that diversity training designed to sensitize municipal and school department employees to attitudes, behaviors, and systemic practices that create barriers and hinder progress toward the achievement of equal opportunity and diversity, is needed.

(b) The affirmative action officer shall design and facilitate a training orientation program on the topics of equal opportunity, harassment/sexual harassment, and diversity. Such training shall be mandatory for all directors, managers, supervisors, and employees within one year of the effective date of this policy, and thereafter mandatory for all new employees within one year of their date of hire. Additional training on related topics may be included on an as needed basis.

Sec. 11-218. Applicability

This policy and its implementation affirm the city's commitment to Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action. All municipal department directors, managers, supervisors and employees are expected to work cooperatively with the Affirmative Action Officer in monitoring and ensuring compliance with this policy, as well as the laws, policies, and procedures outlined in the City's Affirmative Action Plan.

SECTION II. This ordinance shall take effect upon second passage and all ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

IV. POLICY STATEMENTS

POLICY STATEMENTS

Policy on Harassment Prevention and Prohibition Against Retaliation

Employees and applicants will not be subject to harassment because of disability or their status as a protected veteran. If an employee or applicant believes that they have been subject to harassment, they may file a formal complaint with the Affirmative Action Officer.

Any employee or applicant who believes that they have been subject to harassment because of their disability or status as a protected veteran should promptly contact a manager in their chain of command, or promptly contact the Affirmative Action Officer for assistance.

Retaliation, including intimidation, threat, or coercion, against an employee or applicant because they have objected to discrimination, engaged or may engage in filing a complaint, assisted in a review, investigation, or hearing or have otherwise sought to obtain their legal rights under any Federal, State, or local EEO law regarding individuals with disabilities or protected veterans is prohibited. Any employee or applicant who believes that they have been subject to retaliation because of their disability or status as a protected veteran should contact the Personnel Director or the Affirmative Action Officer for assistance.

Retaliation by any City of East Providence employee against any individual for reporting discriminatory behavior or sexual harassment, or against any individual who cooperates in an investigation of a discrimination or sexual harassment claim is illegal. The City of East Providence will not tolerate such behavior and a retaliator will be subject to disciplinary action. Any employee who knowingly provides false information regarding a complaint of discrimination or sexual harassment will be subject to disciplinary action.

This policy shall be communicated to all Officials, Managers, Supervisors, other responsible City officials, and employees, annually, and all are expected to behave in a professional manner and comply with this policy. A copy of this policy shall be posted in the personnel office.

Sexual Harassment Policy and Reporting Procedures

The purpose of this policy is to set acceptable standards of conduct for all municipal employees by providing a work place free of discrimination based on race, color, sex, sexual orientation, pregnancy, gender identity, genetic information, age (40 or older), national origin, disability or veteran status, or any other basis protected by State and Federal Laws.

Sexual harassment is a form of sexual discrimination and is therefore unlawful. Sexual harassment is prohibited by federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations in the area of nondiscrimination and harassment of employment.

Sexual harassment is defined as any unwelcome or unwanted sexual advance, request for sexual favors, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature from someone in the workplace that creates discomfort and/or interferes with the job. Conduct constitutes harassment when:

- (a) Submission to such conduct is made, either explicitly or implicitly, a term or condition of an individual's employment;
- (b) Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions and/or retaliation; or
- (c) Such conduct has the purpose or effect of interfering with an individual's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment.

Examples of sexual harassment include but are not limited to:

Verbal:

- (a) Sexual propositions, sexual innuendo, or suggestive comments
- (b) Sexual teasing or kidding, practical jokes, jokes about gender specific traits
- (c) Whistling, cat calls, verbal slurs, or stereotypical comments
- (d) Gender based remarks about someone's clothing, body or sexual activities
- (e) Requesting sexual favors in exchange for employment or to avoid negative consequences

Non-verbal:

- (a) Giving gifts of a personal nature, sexually explicit materials such as posters, cartoons, pictures, calendars or similar materials
- (b) Displaying of foul or obscene printed or visual materials

Physical:

- (a) Touching or rubbing oneself sexually around another person
- (b) Hugging, patting, pinching or brushing against another person's body
- (c) Sexual gestures with hands or through body movements
- (d) Assault, attempted rape, rape

Harassment due to race, religion, sex, sexual harassment, national origin, disability, age, military or veteran status will not be tolerated in the City of East Providence's workplace. Such conduct is subject to discipline, up to and including termination. Any employee who believes he or she is a victim of sexual harassment must immediately report any incident to their supervisor, Personnel Director, and/or the Affirmative Action Officer.

The City of East Providence will not tolerate retaliation against any employee who complains of sexual harassment or provides information in connection with any such complaint.

If the City receives an allegation of sexual harassment or believes sexual harassment is occurring, it must take the necessary steps to promptly, impartially investigate and address the matter. If it is determined that the allegation is credible, the City must take immediate and effective action to end the unwelcome behavior. The City must take action if it learns of possible sexual harassment, even if the victim of such action does not wish to file a formal complaint.

It is the responsibility of all officials, managers, supervisors, and other responsible City officials who may observe, be informed of, or suspect that an incident of possible sexual harassment immediately report such incidents to the Personnel Director and the Affirmative Action Officer, simultaneously, so that the incident may be promptly investigated. Officials, managers, supervisors, and other responsible City officials must take effective measures to ensure that no further alleged harassment occurs while the investigation is underway and until such time that the investigation is complete.

To the extent possible, the City shall seek to protect the identities of the alleged victim and harasser, except as reasonably necessary (for example, to complete an investigation successfully). Any employee, who has been found to have subjected another employee to unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, will be subject to discipline appropriate to the circumstances, ranging from a letter of reprimand to termination for cause.

Any unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors and other verbal and physical conduct of a sexual nature is unlawful sexual harassment when the response or reaction to the advances or requests is permitted to affect the employment decisions. It is also illegal for an employer to permit any conduct that is sexually offensive, intimidating, hostile or interferes with an individual's work performance. Sexual advances by co-workers who have no control over a person's employment may be unlawful if it has such an intimidating effect that job status is affected.

This policy shall be communicated to all Officials, Managers, Supervisors, other responsible City officials, and employees, annually, and all are expected to behave in a professional manner and comply with this policy. A copy of this policy shall be posted in the personnel office.

Policy on Discrimination Because of Religion or National Origin

It is the policy of the City of East Providence to take affirmative action to insure that applicants are employed, without regard to their religion or national origin. Such action includes, but is not limited to the following employment practices: hiring, promotion, demotion, transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertising, layoff, termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation and selection for training.

The following practices will be reviewed to determine whether members of the various religions and/or ethnic groups are receiving fair consideration for job opportunities.

- (a) Internal recruitment and selection procedures to ensure that the City of East Providence's obligation to provide equal employment opportunity without regard to religion or national origin is being fully implemented.
- (b) Recruiting sources will include our commitment to provide equal employment opportunity without regard to religion or national origin.
- (c) Promotional opportunities will be afforded to all employees regardless of religion or national origin.
- (d) Contact with religious and ethnic organizations will be made for purposes of advice, education, technical assistance and referral of potential employees as necessary to accomplish the purpose of our affirmative action program.
- (e) Recruitment activities will include engagement with educational institutions with substantial enrollments of students from various ethnic and religious groups.
- (f) Ethnic and religious media may be used for employment advertising.

Reasonable accommodations to the religious observances and practices of employees or prospective employees will be made, unless doing so would result in undue hardship. In determining whether undue hardship exists, factors such as the cost and the impact on the rights of other employees, will be considered.

This policy shall be communicated to all Officials, Managers, Supervisors, other responsible City officials, and employees, annually, and all are expected to behave in a professional manner and comply with this policy. A copy of this policy shall be posted in the personnel office.

Policy on Reasonable Accommodation for Persons with Disabilities

The City of East Providence is committed to making reasonable accommodation to employees or applicants that have known physical or mental limitations of qualified persons with disabilities and qualified disabled veterans, unless such accommodation would impose an undue hardship on the conduct of its business. The City is also committed to engaging in an interactive process with the person requesting the accommodation (or their representative), as needed, to determine an appropriate accommodation. The City of East Providence provides reasonable accommodations:

- When an applicant with a disability needs an accommodation to have an equal opportunity to compete for a job.
- When an employee with a disability needs an accommodation to perform the essential functions of the job or to gain access to the workplace
- When an employee with a disability needs an accommodation to enjoy equal access to benefits and privileges of employment (e.g. trainings, office sponsored events)

Undue hardship will be determined by assessing whether the requested accommodation would cause significant difficulty or expense, as provided for in the Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

A reasonable accommodation is any change in the workplace or the way things are customarily done that provides an equal employment opportunity to an individual with a disability. While there are some things that are not considered reasonable accommodations (e.g. removal of an essential job function or personal use items such as hearing aid that is needed on and off the job), reasonable accommodations can cover most things that enable an individual to apply for a job, perform a job, or have equal access to the workplace and employee benefits such as kitchens, parking lots, and office space events.

Common types of accommodations include:

- Modifying work schedules or supervisory methods
- Granting breaks or providing leave
- Altering how or when job duties are performed
- Removing and/or substituting a marginal function
- Moving to different office space
- Providing telework beyond that provided by the collective bargaining agreement
- Making changes in workplace policies
- Providing assistive technology, including technology and communication equipment or specially designed furniture.
- Providing a reader or other staff assistant to enable employees to perform their job functions, where the accommodation cannot be provided by current staff
- Removing an architectural barrier, including reconfiguring work places.
- Providing accessible parking
- Providing materials in alternative formats (e.g. Braille, large print.
- Providing a reassignment to another job.

This policy shall be communicated to Department Heads, Division Heads and all Supervisors and Employees annually, and a notice shall be posted in the personnel office.

Guidelines for Ensuring Unbiased Work Environments

Rhode Island General Law 28-5.1 and the Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, mandates employers to maintain a working environment free of discriminatory insults, intimidation and other forms of harassment. Both an employee's psychological and economic well-being are protected. While an employer cannot be held accountable for the prejudices of it's of its workers clientele, it must take reasonable measures to control or eliminate the overt expression of those prejudices in the workplace. Prompt action by an employer to prevent or correct discriminatory harassment can go a long way in lessening employer liability.

Perhaps the most common type of harassment to which workers are subjected is verbal abuse. Racial and ethnic epithets, slurs or jokes directed at or made in the presence of minority groups employees, are not to be tolerated. An example of unlawful race and sex bias at work environment is the use if the diminutive term "boys" when referring to minority male employees and "girls" when referring to female employees.

An employer is under a two –pronged duty to maintain a working atmosphere free of national origin bias. First, the employer itself must refrain from ridicule or harassment on the basis of slurs or jokes based on national origin are unlawful. An employer is also under the obligation to maintain a work environment free of religious bias. Permitting a supervisor to espouse his/her beliefs to employees while at work may amount to religious discrimination.

This policy shall be communicated to all Officials, Managers, Supervisors, other responsible City officials, and employees, annually, and all are expected to behave in a professional manner and comply with this policy. A copy of this policy shall be posted in the personnel office.

VI. Internal Analysis of Problem Areas and Plan Administration

Internal Analysis of Problem Areas and Plan Administration

The City of East Providence is committed to the effective implementation of the Affirmative Action Plan. It recognizes, however, that it is the responsibility of the leadership, as well as each department manager and supervisor to commit to the Plan's success.

Therefore, the following actions shall be taken to foster commitment and ensure accountability to the Plan's goals:

Internal and External Dissemination of Plan and Policies

- Within thirty days of the Affirmative Action Plan issuance, a copy of the plan will be distributed to all department directors, managers, and supervisors, and the City Manager shall issue a memorandum to each stating the importance of their support and compliance with the plan's content.
- All new employees will be provided with a copy of the policies contained within the plan at their time of hire.
- A copy of the plan shall be made available to any employee or applicant upon request.
- The Affirmative Action Officer and the Personnel Director will collaborate to ensure that a copy of the plan is posted on the City's web page, and a written announcement is placed in the employee newsletter.
- Training programs for department heads, managers and supervisors will be conducted with a focus on explaining the intent of the plan, goals, timetables, and responsibilities necessary for implementation. The training programs will be developed with the assistance of the Affirmative Action Committee.
- Upon request Union Officials shall be provided a copy of the plan and non-discrimination clauses shall be included in all union agreements and contracts. Union contract provisions shall be reviewed to ensure they are non-discriminatory.
- All applicants will be invited to provide their race/ethnicity and gender, and identify themselves as an individual with a disability, as defined in Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, and/or as a protected veteran under the equal employment opportunity provisions of the Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, as amended, if they wish to benefit under this affirmative action program.
- Briefing sessions will be periodically held for managers and supervisors to review the applicable regulations and to discuss such affirmative action measures as training and reasonable accommodation.

- Copies of the plan will be made available to the public upon a formal request.
- Notification shall be made in writing to all recruitment sources, contractors, subcontractors and vendors of the existence of the Statement of Policy and Affirmative Action policy.
- All communication with the public in regard to recruitment, jobs, interviews, and employment shall state that the City of East Providence is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.
- The City of East Providence employment applications shall include a statement that the City of East Providence is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.

Plan Administration and Implementation:

The City Manager shall review the progress toward achievement of specific affirmative action goals.

Department Heads shall take responsibility for the implementation of the plan within their respective departments and shall work collaboratively with the Personnel Director and Affirmative Action Officer in developing and implementing expanded recruitment strategies with a goal of attracting under-utilized protected classes for employment and promotional opportunities with the city.

The Affirmative Action Committee:

The Affirmative Action Committee, which is a citizen/employee advisory committee appointed by the City Council to oversee the City's affirmative action program shall:

- Provide technical assistance in affirmative action areas, including goal setting.
- Advise the City Manager and Affirmative Action Officer on affirmative action and equal opportunity.
- Advise the Affirmative Action Officer and the Personnel Director in the areas of recruitment, hiring, promoting and retaining.
- Assist in the revision of the Affirmative Action Plan.
- Monitor progress in attainment of goals.

Identification and Analysis of Problem Areas:

Employment and Selection Process –

The city will make every effort to ensure that all employment practices and decisions are made fairly and equitably. Such employment practices shall include, but not be limited to, employee recruitment, hiring, transfer, promotion, training, compensation, benefits, layoff, and termination.

Throughout the Municipal Department, minorities are underutilized in all job categories, except Skilled Craft. Women are not adequately represented in the Officials/ Managers/ Administrators, Professionals, Technicians, Protective Services, and Service Maintenance job categories. Within the City Administration, minorities are underutilized in all job categories and women are only underrepresented in the Service Maintenance job category. A job freeze, minimal turnover, and restrictions imposed by collective bargaining agreements are some of the primary reasons for the underutilization of minorities and women in the respective categories.

In an effort to improve the overall representation of minorities and women within job categories where they are not adequately represented, the affirmative action officer, in conjunction with the personnel director, shall oversee all employment practices to ensure they are conducted in accordance with the provisions of City Ordinance. This shall include:

- Reviewing and revising employment practices, personnel rules, policies and procedures, as needed, to ensure that they comply with federal and state laws, and that they are rendered fairly, appropriately, and without discrimination.
- Developing and implementing best practices for recruitment that broadens outreach and increases the likelihood of attracting a more diverse applicant pool of individuals who meet the minimum requirements for job openings, especially for those job classifications and categories where there exists an underutilization of women and minorities.
- This shall include, but not be limited to, direct contact with organizations specifically involved with equal opportunity in employment or minorities (people of color), women, persons of disabilities and veterans; the development of an expanded outreach list which identifies minority organizations, churches, businesses, and leaders who will be notified of job openings to assist with disseminating information about such jobs to the underrepresented communities; advertising job announcements in minority publication and through other minority media outlets; expanding the application period to allow the necessary time to reach a broader applicant pool; review of existing recruitment practices to ensure there are no unnecessary barriers to recruiting a diverse applicant pool; and hosting community informational workshops geared toward educating the general public on various employment opportunities.

- Developing best practices for selection that ensures fair and equitable treatment of all individuals, and that seeks to identify and eliminate any potential bias that may exist throughout the decision making processes. This shall include a review of each component of the selection process by the Affirmative Action Officer, who will make recommendations to the Human Resources Director of specific actions that may result in greater diversity in the selection process. For example, understanding the importance of diverse perspectives, the Affirmative Action Officer may be present or recommend that minorities be included on specific selection panels for positions where there exists an underrepresentation of minorities and woman in the workforce.

Recruitment:

It is the City of East Providence's goal to have a diverse and qualified workforce. Report Highlights Disparities for Black Rhode Islanders

Systemic barriers impede Black Rhode Island communities

Providence, RI – A new report from the Economic Progress Institute, “The State of Black Families in Rhode Island 2015” provides details about key economic and social indicators for Black families in the Ocean State and documents the disparities with their White counterparts.

“This report pulls together data that have been highlighted by different sources and community members over the years to provide a full picture of how Black Rhode Islanders are faring in the Ocean State,” said Rachel Flum, Executive Director of the Institute. “The significantly higher rates of unemployment and underemployment, lower wages and educational attainment, and over-representation in the criminal justice system should set off alarm bells for all of us. We hope this report will be a catalyst for action by policy makers, educators, the business community and the public.”

Key points from the report include:

Population Growth

- Rhode Island’s Black population has grown substantially, increasing from 46,908 in 2000, when the Black population accounted for 4.5 percent of Rhode Island’s overall population, to 68,243 in 2015, representing 6.5 percent of the overall population.
- The foreign-born Black population accounts for 29 percent of Rhode Island’s Black population, compared to a national average of 9 percent.

Income Inequality

- The Black median household income consistently trails the White median income; from 2005 to 2015, for every dollar in median income in a White-headed household, the Black median household saw only fifty-seven cents.
- The Black median wage peaked thirty years ago, while the White median wage has made progress over that period. The gap between Black and White median wages has widened over time.

Unemployment Worse for Black Rhode Islanders:

- Black unemployment is consistently approximately double White unemployment.
- Black underemployment peaked at nearly 30 percent during the Great Recession and consistently tracks nearly double the White underemployment rate.

Educational Attainment

- Black Rhode Island students consistently trail their White counterparts in National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) testing in both 4th and 8th grade reading and mathematics. While progress has been made at improving scores over time, very little progress has been made at closing the Black/White gap.
- There is a substantial gap between the share of the Black and White populations with higher education: 19 percent of Blacks have a bachelor's degree or higher, compared to 34 percent of Whites.

Judicial/Corrections Indicators

- Black Rhode Islanders in Ocean State cities face arrest rates that range from 3.4 to 9.1 times non-Black arrest rates; arrests for possession of marijuana are more than double, despite research showing Black and White use of marijuana is comparable.
- Black Rhode Islanders comprise a disproportionately large share of the Rhode Island Department of Corrections population – 30 percent of the DoC population, compared to 5.3 percent of the overall population.

The Economic Progress Institute's earlier report, "The State of Working Rhode Island: Workers of Color" documented how families of color in Rhode Island were faring compared to their White counterparts. After the report's release, both the Institute and members of the Racial Justice Coalition of Rhode Island (NAACP Providence, Direct Action for Rights and Equality, Jobs with Justice, Opportunities Industrialization Center, Progreso Latino, PrYSM, Refugee Dream Center) thought it important to take a deeper look at the key economic and social indicators for Black families.

"This report documents the lived-experience of Rhode Island's Black children, families and adults -- lower educational attainment, higher unemployment, and over-representation in the criminal justice system," said Justice Gaines, Coordinator of the Racial Justice Coalition of Rhode Island. "Reversing systemic barriers to success and paving the road to prosperity for Rhode Island's Black population will require a comprehensive and coordinated set of policy responses."

The paper will be released at the 104th NAACP Freedom Fund breakfast and available online at the EPI's website Saturday morning at www.economicprogressri.org/blackrhodeislanders

THE STATE OF BLACK FAMILIES IN RHODE ISLAND

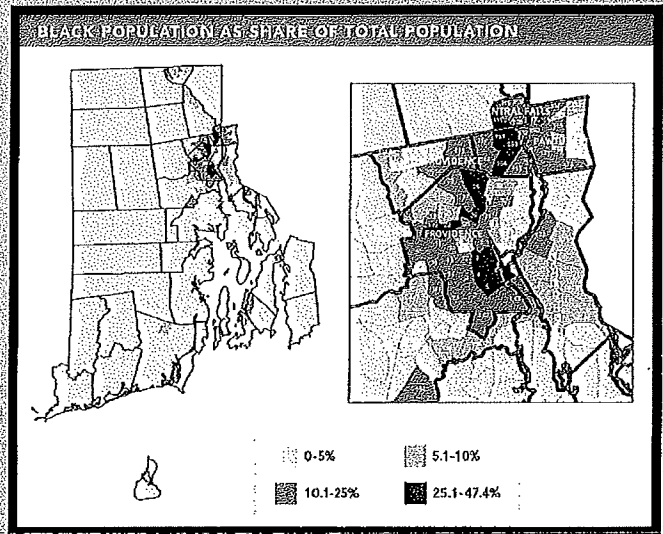

While Rhode Island has made progress in the areas of human rights and equality, far too many African-heritage people in Rhode Island are still confined to segregated and substandard neighborhoods, and have limited access to employment, education and affordable healthcare opportunities.

Population and Geography

68,243

Black Rhode Islanders call the Ocean State home; 6.5 percent of the overall population.

More than four in five Black Rhode Islanders live in Providence, Pawtucket, Cranston, Central Falls, East Providence, and North Providence.

Population Growth

RHODE ISLAND'S BLACK POPULATION GREW 45% BETWEEN 2000 AND 2015

Forty-one percent of the growth was due to an increase in the Black foreign-born population.

NEARLY ONE IN THREE BLACK RHODE ISLANDERS ARE FOREIGN-BORN

Income Inequality

WHITE HOUSEHOLDS

BLACK HOUSEHOLDS

For every dollar of income in the median White household, the median Black household realizes just fifty-seven cents.

Unemployment & Underemployment

BLACK UNEMPLOYMENT CONSISTENTLY EXCEEDS WHITE UNEMPLOYMENT

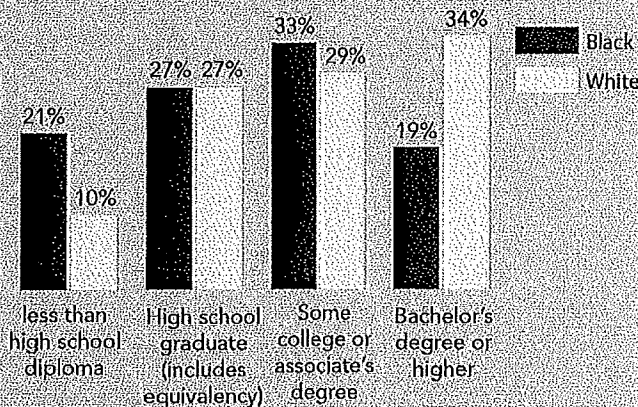

BLACK UNDEREMPLOYMENT* RATE 1.7 TIMES GREATER THAN WHITE UNDEREMPLOYMENT

*The underemployment rate includes those who are unemployed, those working part time for economic reasons, and marginally-attached workers.

Education

LARGER SHARE OF BLACK RHODE ISLANDERS LACK HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA & SMALLER SHARE HAVE BACHELOR'S DEGREE OR HIGHER COMPARED TO WHITE RHODE ISLANDERS

*Based on share of Population 25 years and older at each level of educational attainment

Black Rhode Island students consistently trail their White counterparts in National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) testing in both 4th and 8th grade reading and mathematics.

Criminal Justice

LARGE DISPARITIES IN ARREST RATES FOR POSSESSION OF MARIJUANA BETWEEN BLACK AND WHITE RESIDENTS OF MA, RI, CT, AND U.S.

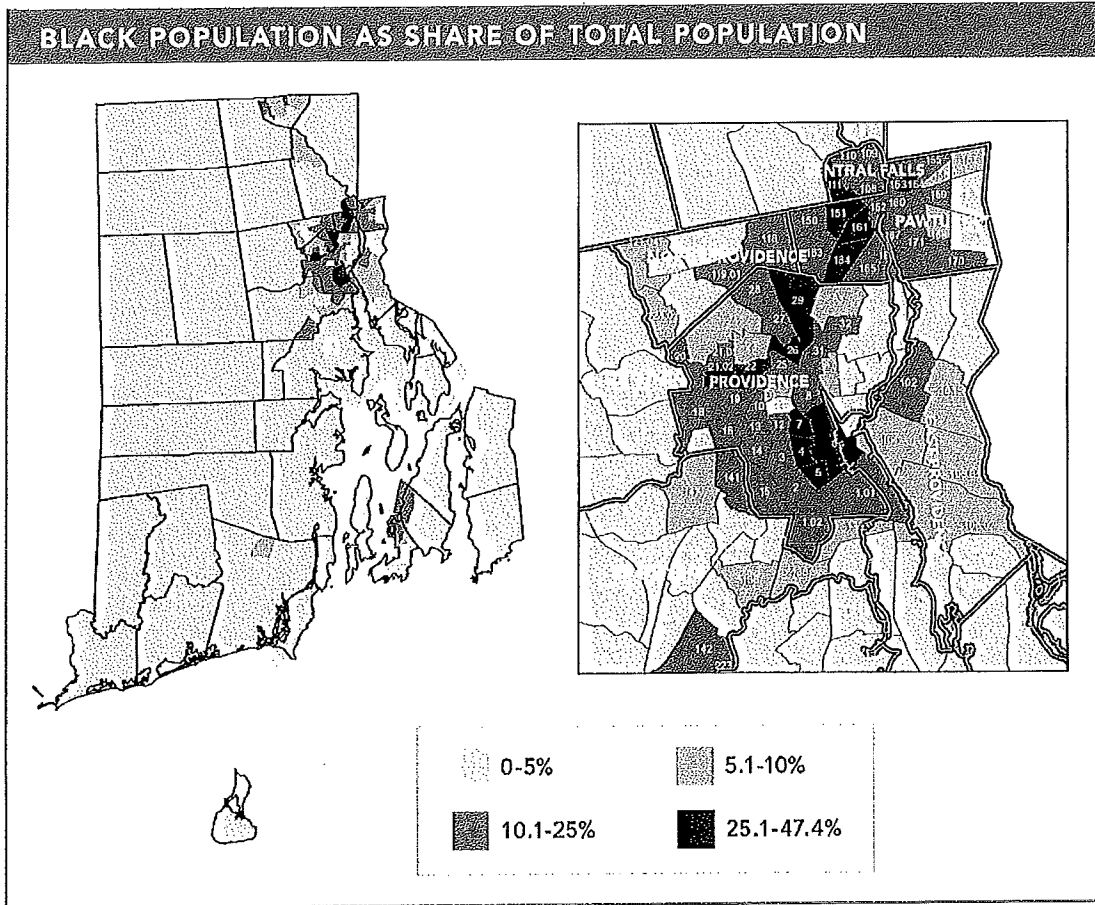

Black Rhode Islanders in Ocean State cities face arrest rates that range from 3.4 to 9.1 times non-Black arrest rates.

We are grateful to Blue Cross Blue Shield of Rhode Island for its support of this report.

WHERE DO BLACK RHODE ISLANDERS LIVE?

Mapping Rhode Island's Black population we see that the vast majority of Black Rhode Islanders live in and around the city of Providence. Five of the seven municipalities with the greatest Black population form a cluster with Providence at its core.

Source: US Census Bureau, American Community Survey, 5-year data, 2011-2015, Table S0601; white numbers correspond to US Census Bureau Census Tract numbers.

This concentration of Black Rhode Islanders is further evident in Table 1 and Figure 4. More than four in five Black Rhode Islanders live in Providence and the surrounding five cities of Pawtucket, Cranston, Central Falls, East Providence, and North Providence. Rounding out the top eight towns by total Black population are Woonsocket and Newport.

WHERE DO BLACK RHODE ISLANDERS LIVE?

RHODE ISLAND	68,200	6%	100%	N/A
Providence	29,100	16%	43%	43%
Pawtucket	12,800	18%	19%	61%

WAGES

Black Wages trail White wages across the wage distribution, though the gap grows considerably as incomes increase. At the 10th percentile wage ('very low wage'), Black wages are very similar to White wages, earning 95 percent of the 10th percentile wage for White workers. The median Black wage is 71 percent of the median wage for White Rhode Islanders. The Black wage at the 90th percentile is just 60 percent of the White 90th percentile wage (Figure 17).

This wage gap is not only persistent across the wage distribution, it is also persistent over time. Figure 18 shows the median Black wage and the median White wage since 1979. Three noteworthy aspects of this comparison include the following:

- The gap between Black and White median wages has not been narrowing. The Black median wage as a percentage of the White was less in 2016 than in 1979 (71 percent versus 78 percent).

UNDEREMPLOYMENT

Another measure of slack in the labor force is the “underemployment” rate, which includes those who are unemployed, those working part-time for economic reasons, and marginally-attached workers (including ‘discouraged workers’). Marginally-attached workers are those individuals who are not counted in the official labor force, but who want, and are available for work, and have looked for a job sometime in the prior 12 months, but were not counted as unemployed because they had not searched for work in the four weeks preceding the survey.

In Figure 14 we see that the underemployment rate for Black Rhode Islanders in 2016 was 14.8 percent, compared to an underemployment rate of 8.6 percent for White Rhode Islanders.

Figure 15 shows the Black and White underemployment rates over time, since 2002. The gap between White and Black is persistent, with the Black rate averaging 1.8 times the White rate.

UNEMPLOYMENT

The share of Black workers in Rhode Island unable to find a job (as measured by the unemployment rate) consistently exceeds the share of White workers who are unemployed, as seen in Figure 11. This is true both when the economy is strong and when the economy is weak, such as during the Great Recession and during the subsequent weak recovery.
